Sayson with Canadian hockey legend, Don Cherry

Sayson graduated from the University of British Columbia in 1992 with a Bachelor's Degree in Arts. He then furthered his education by acquiring his training in Broadcast Communications at the British Columbia Institute of Technology, graduating with honours.

Sayson loves to share his passion for videography and now conducts training seminars across North America. Just this past year, Sayson has traveled to New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Las Vegas, teaching professional development classes to thousands of videographers from around the world.

In addition to teaching and running his own business, Sayson also works in the thrilling field of sports broadcasting. He is a freelance sports production specialist, performing camera and instant replay work for the Vancouver Canucks, Vancouver Giants, and BC Lions and Vancouver Whitecaps.

Currently, Sayson is producing a highly anticipated new television program called West Coast Adventures, an exciting episodic show about fun and travel in the beautiful West Coast. "I am ecstatic to be producing this show," said Sayson. "West Coast Adventures is a combination of my passions in life, videography, travel and adventure."
