FLYING HIGH WITH LANGLEY FLYING SCHOOL

Segment Length: 5 minutes 58 seconds

Susie experiences a thrill of a lifetime as she takes her first flight lesson from the Langley Flying School, based out of the Langley Airport in British Columbia. After just one introductory lesson, Susie gets to pilot a single engine, Piper Cherokee airplane that's worth over three hundred thousand dollars.

For her flight itinerary, Susie flies up to an altitude of 5500 feet to gaze at the spectacular mountain ranges at Golden Ears, then heads south to check out the beaches at White Rock.
